Art Unit: 1771

1. Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 1 and 7, the phrase "such as" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d). Also, in claim 1, the claim recites "of the type". This renders the claim indefinite because it is not clear what type of fabric is being referred to, i.e., how does this further limit "An antislip fabric".

In claim 12, it is not clear what is meant by "woolie" polyester.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 3-5, 7, 9-11, 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Campbell et al, U.S. Patent No. 3,842,437. Campbell et al discloses a strip comprising two types of warp threads which are interwoven with a weft thread in a leno weave. The weft yarn may comprise a polyester yarn. The edges of the strip may be smoothly woven. Since Campbell et al discloses the claimed structure, the Campbell et al strip would inherently function as an anti-slip strip, as well as form a plurality of spaced apart nubs. Campbell teaches that the strip does not shift in use. See col 5, lines 5-10. One of the warp yarns may comprise a wrapped spandex, (i.e.

polyurethane), yarn. See col. 2, lines 25-35 and 42-44; col. 3, lines 20-25 and lines 63-65; col. 4, lines 47-61.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2, 8, 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Campbell et al, U.S. Patent No. 3,842,437. Campbell discloses a strip as set forth above

Campbell et al differs from the claimed invention because Campbell et al does not teach employing a bare polyurethane as one of the two warp yarns. However, it would have been obvious to have employed a bare polyurethane as the second of the warp yarns because the use of bare polyurethane yarns would further enhance the stretch of the strip without adding excess bulk.

With regard to the particular type of polyester yarn claimed in the edge portions in claim 9,

Campbell teaches employing texturized polyester yarns, which presumably would correspond to woolie polyester. It would have been obvious to also incorporate polyester monofilaments and other polyester filaments since all of these types of polyesters filaments are well known in the art as being useful for forming garments and garment trimming.

6. Claims 5-6, 13-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over

Campbell et al as applied to claims 1-5, 7-11, 13 above, and further in view of Yabu, U.S. Patent

No. 4,507,343. Campbell teaches employing a leno weave which comprises two different warp threads and a weft thread, so presumably the strip of Campbell would inherently possess an antislip property. Yabu teaches that leno weaves may be formed so that they comprise a pile surface which corresponds to the claimed nubs. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have employed the leno weave disclosed by Yabu in the strip of Campbell in order to further enhance the non-slip properties of the strip.

Art Unit: 1771
